Message From Our Provincial Delegate

Praised be Jesus Christ!

It's good to be reaching out to you again through our "OCDS Provincial Newsletter." Our February issue in this new format received such rave reviews that we want to continue it. Hopefully it will improve as time goes on to help bring us closer together in our Carmelite calling. Please send us your OCDS news and photos, and we will include them as space permits. I want to thank Gerri Drury of the Oakville OCDS Community for her indispensable help in editing and formatting this "Newsletter." She is the one responsible for its high quality, and I'm very grateful to her.

In our Western Province, there are now over 2,000 members in 38 communities and 26 groups. Reaching out to you has been a priority of mine ever since I began my ministry as your Provincial Delegate. Our OCDS Provincial Council is also making a real effort to improve communication among us. I'm traveling more now to visit our communities and groups. I must say that the more I get to know you, the more I admire you! I see so many of you quietly living out your lives of prayer and service, doing whatever you can to build up the Church and our world in love. Every community and group in the Province has its own challenges. Some groups feel they are too small. Some communities feel they are too big. Some of you are struggling to live out your Carmelite vocation in very adverse circumstances. Despite these challenges, if you have St. Teresa's "determined determination" to do your very best for the Lord, he will bless you. It is often in difficult times that we know God's help and peace most powerfully.

In these hard times in our country, when so many people are drifting away from God and the Church, we Carmelites have a real mission to reach out to one another and to strengthen our own communities in love. Whether for a newcomer or an old-timer, regular attendance at monthly meetings and generous service to your community is essential. This is what you promise to do. Not only officers but each and every secular Carmelite should promote a loving atmosphere at meetings where members really care about each other and where you are nourished by solid Church and Carmelite teaching. You should always be striving for a balanced meeting schedule of prayer, formation, business, and socializing. At home, your personal prayer, the Liturgy of the Hours, and your formation study should inspire you to reach out to your community more when you come together.

Our Carmelite vocation is such a great gift, but also such a great responsibility! God has reached out to bring us to Carmel so that we, in turn, will reach out to others. Through our love, prayers, and sacrifices as individuals and in community, we will have a tremendous impact on our families, the Church, and our world.

OCDS News From Around the Province

In late April, I traveled to Las Vegas to begin a new study group in the neighboring city of Henderson and to get to know the Las Vegas OCDS Community. There is not yet a spiritual assistant for the group in Henderson, but they proposed a way to bridge the gap between us that at first caught me off guard: skyping, or teleconferencing, between them and me. After some investigating and upgrading our computer, our OCDS Central Office is now "open for business" to skype with you. Just before Christ's Ascension, he told his disciples "Go into the whole world and proclaim the good news," and he said that we would "speak entirely new languages" (Mk 16:15,17). Skyping certainly counts as a new language to learn to help proclaim the good news of the Church and Carmel.

Regional Meetings

In our February Newsletter, I wrote that the OCDS Provincial Council had decided to organize several one-day regional meetings on Carmelite spirituality and formation, especially in those areas of the Province that do not have much contact with the Carmelite friars. This model was very successful in Phoenix in December 2006 when Father

Patrick Sugrue, my predecessor, met with all five Arizona communities and groups for a day. I'm happy to report on two highly successful regional meetings that we held during the summer in Montana and in Utah.

On June 27, I traveled to Great Falls, Montana, where over twenty members of the Butte and Billings OCDS groups came together at the Ursuline Centre. A major challenge, which both these groups face, is long-driving distance for meetings. In the winter, travel over icy, mountainous roads can be treacherous. Even for this OCDS Regional Meeting in Great Falls, the shortest drive for any of the people attending was two-and-a-half hours one way. Some drove as much as five-and-a-half hours. Along with Mass and the Liturgy of the Hours, we had wonderful talks, lots of questions and answers, and meals together. It was good, too, for the Billings and Butte members to get to know one another better.

Montana OCDS Regional Meeting, June 27, 2009

On July 11, we held an OCDS Regional Meeting in Utah. We met in the outer quarters at the Carmelite nuns' monastery in Holladay, a suburb of Salt Lake City. More than forty people attended, especially from the Salt Lake City and Ogden communities. Also attending was Jim Dowd, who drove over five hours to represent a new study group just beginning in Cedar City, Utah. Msgr. Michael Winterer, whose parish takes in one-quarter of the state of Utah, is their Spiritual Assistant. Lee Ann Duran of the Ogden community has generously assisted. For the time being, their meetings will alternate between Cedar City and St. George to help out those with long commutes. As many as twenty-three people are participating. Seven OCDS members from Grand Junction, Colorado, drove over five hours to come to this Regional Meeting in Utah. They heard about it and took the initiative to ask if they could come. They didn't know where to spend the night, but one of their members knew a mortician in the area. So some of them spent the night in a mortuary! Two even slept in the viewing room! Now that is dedication!

Utah OCDS Regional Meeting, July 11, 2009

From Salt Lake City, I flew to Baltimore to attend the OCDS Congress of the Washington Province. Over 310 Carmelites were present. I was amazed to see twenty-five OCDS members from our own Western Province! They represented the communities of Albuquerque, Auburn, Eugene, Modesto, Palm Springs, Portland, Salt Lake City, San Jose, Seattle (St. Joseph's), with an amazing twelve people from the Covina Community. Catherine Faller and Cheryl Dockter, who are planning the next Congress in Bakersfield, were also there "soaking up everything like sponges."

To promote our Bakersfield Congress, Loretta Gallagher, one of the delegates from the Boston area, composed a rousing chorus to the tune of "California, Here We Come!" which we all sang to the Congress on our last morning together. Quite a few of the OCDS members of the Washington and Oklahoma Provinces have already said that they want to join us in Bakersfield.

At the end of September, I had the privilege of traveling to Colorado and Wyoming to preach a retreat in Douglas, Wyoming, for the Cheyenne Group. Six members of the Billings, Montana, Group attended as well.

In Chris Hart's report on pp. 7-8, you will read about the January 11-14, 2010, meeting for all Directors of Formation, sponsored by the OCDS Provincial Council. God willing, this meeting will have a positive influence in our communities and groups throughout the Province. If your Director of Formation cannot attend, try your best to send a substitute.

I'm so grateful to Peggy Scheerger, our volunteer secretary in the OCDS Central Office, for her assistance. Our Central Office could not operate without her.

Peggy would like to remind our presidents and secretaries that all communities and groups are to send us their updated roster each year. The sample of the form we would like you to use is found in our Formation Guidelines, p. 159. It is important to keep us updated on your members' changes of address. The reason we sent most copies of this issue of our "OCDS Provincial Newsletter" to each president for distribution is because so many copies with incorrect addresses were returned to us by the Post Office last February.

Again, Peggy's OCDS cell phone is (408) 230-5944. Her e-mail is pegscheer@sbcglobal.net. Our website is www.ocds.info. My telephone is (408) 259-7786, and my e-mail is dkinneyocd@catholic.org.

Father Aloysius Deeney, OCD, our Delegate General in Rome who will be speaking at the Bakersfield Congress, has recently published a new book entitled Welcome to the Secular Order of Discalced Carmelites. This book includes some conferences already included in our Formation Guidelines. I especially recommend this book to leaders and other seasoned OCDS members. You can order it for $9.95 per copy. ICS Publications gives a 40% discount on orders of five or more copies (any mix) of their books. ICS also has a wealth of Carmelite spirituality conferences now on CD. For more information, contact:

Update From the OCDS Provincial Council: Chris Hart, President, OCDS Provincial Council

Have you ever wondered what goes on at an OCDS Provincial Council meeting? The answer is prayer and work. Usually we meet at the Carmelite House of Prayer in Oakville, California. We arrive late Friday afternoon, share in a delightful meal with the friars, and then it's off to work. Not a moment is lost, since we spend an hour or more planning our agenda for the weekend, including voicing the concerns of those who have contacted us since our last meeting. Remembering that each of us has spent the whole day in travel, we close the meeting by 9 PM with Night Prayer.

Most of us are up early Saturday morning to begin the day with silent prayer. After Mass and breakfast, we begin our meeting with Morning Prayer. Then it's a full eight-hour day, with a pause at noon and a few scattered breaks. At 6 PM, we pray Evening Prayer and have dinner with the friars. Then we continue our meeting until about 9 PM, pray Night Prayer together, and take a rest. It's quite possible that even this rest time is used for further research, revisions of reports, and phone calls for our agenda.

On Sunday morning after silent prayer and breakfast, we have Mass together at 9. Our meeting comes to a hasty close at noon when we have a final meal together, bid one another goodbye, and confirm that we're keeping each other in prayer. Then we must get to the airport or drive several hours to get home.

Update From the OCDS Provincial Council (cont'd)

So what happens at an OCDS Provincial Council meeting is a lot of prayer, which shines forth in the fifteen hours of work lovingly done to aid our OCDS brothers and sisters throughout the California-Arizona Province. At our February and May meetings, our Provincial Council worked diligently on a "Procedures Manual," which has been requested by a number of communities and groups. This booklet will not be a legislative document, but it is meant to provide helpful information for the processes and procedures that each community and group needs to carry out during its monthly meeting time together. It is our hope to have this "Procedures Manual" available soon.

The second task that has filled our time is planning the Directors of Formation meeting to be held at El Carmelo Retreat House in Redlands January 11-14, 2010. We greatly appreciate the responses sent to us from our survey last winter. We collated this information and discussed how to give useful solutions to the many questions asked of us. As a result, the topics for this Directors of Formation meeting will include: how to more easily use the Formation Guidelines, building a healthy Teresian community, how local Councils discern vocations, dealing with challenges met by larger communities and by smaller groups, the shortage of spiritual assistants, and much more. It is our hope that the more time we spend with our Legislative Documents and Formation Guidelines, the more they will become a natural part of who we are as Carmelite seculars.

Better communication throughout the Province was among the major requests in our survey. As one possible solution, we have a blog space on our website at www.ocds.info. This provides contact information for our various communities and groups and also useful formation material that has been developed by different experienced Directors of Formation throughout the Province. This shared information will be updated as time goes on. In addition, on our blog, we have a question and answer section for anyone looking for specific help. For those who do not have internet access or who prefer to speak with one of us personally, our names and contact information are available below.

The OCDS Provincial Council met again October 30-November 1 in Oakville. Among other business items, we continued to make final preparations for the January meeting in Redlands. We thank you for your prayers because we greatly depend on this grace. Know that we are united in Christ, and you are always in our thoughts and prayers.

Update From the OCDS Provincial Council (cont'd)

Our OCDS Provincial Council, Oakville, May 30, 2009

Report on the Carmelite Institute: Liz Noreen, OCDS, Portland

The Carmelite Institute is a collaborative effort of the Carmelites of the United States and Canada. Its mission is to promote the following of Jesus Christ through studies in the Carmelite tradition and by making this tradition available to our Carmelite brothers and sisters (both O.Carm and OCD), as well as to all those interested in the spiritual life. The founders included the five provincials of North America (two O.Carm and three OCD). The development and activities of the Institute are governed by a Board of Directors that meets at least once a year. In addition to the five provincials, the Board consists of representatives from the Carmelite sisters (O.Carm), the three coordinators of the three associations of OCD nuns, a Lay Carmelite (TOC) representative, and one OCDS representative. Both of the secular positions are for a three-year term.

Early in 2009, I was asked by the OCDS Provincial Council of the California-Arizona Province if I would be our OCDS representative. The Board approved my nomination, so last March I went to Whitefriars Hall (the O.Carm House of Studies) in Washington, D.C., for my first meeting as a member of the Board. I was honored to be there. It was a humbling experience to sit at the same table as the friars, nuns, and sisters, as well as the TOC representative.

Report on the Carmelite Institute (cont'd)

The main focus of our meeting was to discuss the programs offered by the Institute. You probably have received brochures from the Institute outlining its Resident and Distance Education Certificate Programs. Some of the courses seem similar to those covered in our Province's Formation Guidelines. However, the Institute's instructors are experts in Carmelite Spirituality from around the United States. In addition, other students come from throughout the world and are passionate about living lives of prayer in the service of the Church.

The Institute also sponsors conferences every three years, week-long seminars, and retreats. It also supports the publishing of books, tapes, and artwork that would not otherwise be available, as well as maintaining a library. Learning about the work of the Carmelite Institute was an enlightening experience. I'm truly grateful for this opportunity. I urge each of you to support this worthwhile endeavor, which brings the whole Carmelite family together to foster our charism in the world.

Other News From Around the Province

Honoring Margaret Lander, OCDS

This year Margaret Lander, long-time member of the Long Beach OCDS Community, is celebrating fifty-five years of vows as a Carmelite secular. She renewed her vows with her Community in a special ceremony on October 18. (Before the Second Vatican Council, Carmelite secular members took vows for life after one year of formation.) Margaret has served as president, council member, and formation teacher in her Long Beach Community. She has been active in her parish and for years has volunteered as retreat captain at El Carmelo Retreat House in Redlands. Margaret is an enthusiastic supporter of the friars and nuns of the Province. We congratulate her and the Long Beach Community on this milestone in her life!

In Memoriam

Bernard Zink, OCDS

Bernard Zink passed away at home on April 25 in Sacramento, California, at the age of ninety-five. He was preceded in death by his wife, Ann. They had 7 children, 16 grandchildren, and 12 great grandchildren. One of his grandsons, Father Eric Lofgren, was the principal celebrant at the funeral Mass.

Bernard was a mechanical engineer. He and Ann lived in several cities around the country before settling in Sacramento. There he began a long history in St. Philomene Parish, where he attended daily Mass, lectured, and served as extraordinary minister of holy Communion.

Bernard was a member of the Carmelite Secular Order in San Francisco and Sacramento. He helped found the OCDS Community in Auburn. He was a trusted advisor to Father Bonaventure Galvin, OCD, who was Provincial Delegate from 1970-1991. Bernard counted many Carmelite friars, nuns, and OCDS members as friends. His gentle smile and gracious demeanor will long be remembered. We thank God for all he has done to help build up the Secular Order in our Province.

Peggy Wilkinson, OCDS

Peggy Wilkinson of Frederick, Maryland, died suddenly on August 10. She was eighty years old. In July, she had attended the OCDS Congress in Baltimore, where she gave a workshop presentation. Peggy was a prominent OCDS member of the Washington Province and was known by many of us in our Province. She authored the book Finding the Mystic Within You. She wrote extensively and led conferences and retreats on Carmelite spirituality.

May the Lord grant eternal light to Bernard, Peggy, and all our deceased Carmelites and loved ones. May their souls and the souls of all the faithful departed rest in peace.

“Let us strive to be true Carmelites, for soon the day’s journey will end.”

Bakersfield OCDS Western Regional Congress

“Our Carmelite Saints and Their Families:
Inspiration for Us Today”

Enthusiasm is building for our Province’s next OCDS Congress. We are happy to announce the winner of our contest for the official logo of the Bakersfield Congress. It is Linae Frei of the Phoenix OCDS Community. Linae will receive a $100 scholarship to the Congress for herself or for another member of her Community. The Congress is being planned by Catherine Faller, OCDS, assisted by Cheryl Dockter, OCDS, of the Bakersfield Community, and Father Donald Kinney.

We have an exciting group of speakers:

- Father Aloysius Deeney, OCD—OCDS General Delegate in Rome
- Rev. Mother Regina Marie, OCD—Superior General, Carmelite Sisters of the Most Sacred Heart of Los Angeles, Alhambra, California
- Father Christopher La Rocca, OCD—Rector and Student Master, Carmelite House of Studies, Mt. Angel, Oregon
- Father Ramiro Casale, OCD—Director of the Institute of Spirituality, Stanwood, Washington
- Dr. Rosemarie Ludwig, OCDS—President, St. Joseph OCDS Community, Phoenix, Arizona
- Cindy Sliger, OCDS—OCDS Provincial Councilor, President, St. Joseph OCDS Community, Seattle, Washington

Panel discussion with OCDS Provincial Council.

Father Donald Kinney, OCD, will celebrate Mass on June 24; Most Reverend John Steinbock, Bishop of the Diocese of Fresno, on June 25; Father Matthew Williams, OCD, Provincial of our Western Province, on June 26; and Father Aloysius Deeney, OCD, on June 27.

Even in these difficult times, let's pray for a record attendance in Bakersfield. Great faith not only moves mountains but also changes hearts to give. Again, I ask you to take up a voluntary collection at each of your monthly meetings for your own community's financial needs and for the Congress. St. Paul writes, "God loves a cheerful giver. God can multiply his favors among you so that you may always have enough of everything and even a surplus for good works" (II Cor 9:7-8).

As a shining example for us, the Bakersfield Community is showing real ingenuity and initiative by organizing a fundraising breakfast with a raffle to help raise money for its own members to attend the Congress. They are fine, vibrant Carmelites. I urge as many as can to attend. Our regional Congress is the one opportunity we have every three years to come together to celebrate our Carmelite family.

Lee Ann Trunk, President of the Portland Community, writes: "I have attended four OCDS congresses. Each time it brings into sharper focus for me who and what Carmel is. It helps me see how my Community fits into the bigger family of Carmel and the Church. Attending a congress strengthens the bonds of community within our own Province when we travel, pray and spend close time with other Carmelites over a long weekend. It is an effort to attend, but it is well worth it."

Yvonne Bagaman, Director of Formation, Covina Community: "I'm inspired by previous congresses because it's a homecoming of the great Teresian Carmelite family."

Thank you for your prayers for all the needs of our Province and for this Congress.

On December 1, 2009, registration materials will be sent to each community and group in the Province and will be available on our Congress Web site.

Mother Regina Marie and
Father Donald look forward to the Congress.

Carmelite Digest

We want to thank all OCDS members who subscribed or renewed their subscriptions to Carmelite Digest. We were especially pleased to see so many take advantage of the price break we offered all OCDS members of the California-Arizona Province. For those who were not able to subscribe or renew their subscriptions and take advantage of this price break, you can still do so. The usual cost for a subscription to Carmelite Digest is $26 per year or $46 for two years. But if you renew for two years at $46, you will get ANOTHER YEAR FREE (or three years for $46). This is a terrific price break. If you would like to take advantage of this offer, you may do so by sending us a check or money order for $46 made out to "Carmelite Digest" at this address:

Carmelite Digest
PO Box 3898
Yountville, CA 94599-3898

Include a note stating that you want to take advantage of the price break of $46 for THREE YEARS. Be sure to include your address. We will take care of the rest. You may also contact us by phone at (707) 944-9007 and place your order using Visa/MasterCard.

Log on to our Web site at www.carmelitedigest.com and check out what our publication has to offer. If you have any questions or comments, write us at our e-mail address at carmelitedig@aol.com or give us a call at (707) 944-9007.

The Year For Priests

Curé of Ars

Our Holy Father Pope Benedict has proclaimed a special Year for Priests, as you have surely heard. This commemoration began on June 19, Feast of the Sacred Heart, and will end on June 19 next year. The theme of this year, which also commemorates the 150th anniversary of the death of St. John Vianney, is "Faithfulness of Christ, faithfulness of priests." The theme of this year harmonizes perfectly with our Carmelite charism. St. Teresa ardently loved the Church and gave her life for it. She wanted the Discalced Carmelite reform to pray especially for priests. In chapter 1 of The Way of Perfection (1,2) and in chapter 1 of her Book of Foundations (1,7), she urges us to pray for the leaders of the Church, because when the leaders of the Church are strong, the Church is strong. We Carmelites today follow her example by doing all we can to build up the Church and by supporting our priests and praying for them.

You may ask, "How can the Secular Order promote this Year for Priests? What can I myself do?" For those communities and groups that are fortunate to have a spiritual assistant, you should make it a point to express your gratitude to him. You might also want to write to thank your bishop, your parish priest, and the priests who have helped you in your life. Have a Mass offered, give a spiritual bouquet, pray the rosary for your priests.

We thank the Lord for continuing to bless us Carmelites in the Western Province with ordinations, professions, and vocations. On February 1, Brother David Guzmán was ordained a deacon in Redlands; on May 23, Brother Mark Kissner was ordained a deacon in Portland; and on June 20, Fathers James Zakowicz and Ramiro Casale were ordained priests in Alhambra. Two new postulants entered our Province in San Jose on September 1: Brett Sharp from Whittier, California, and Charles "Dusty" Delacey from Owensboro, Kentucky. Brother Peter Vecellio made his First Profession of Vows in San Jose on September 8.

The Year For Priests (cont'd)

Several communities have asked for the names of all our Carmelite brothers in formation. Here is an updated list:

Our deacons: Brother Salvador Román (Santa Cruz Parish, Tucson), Brother David Guzmán (St. Therese Parish, Alhambra), and Brother Mark Kissner (Mt. Angel).

In Rome at the Carmelites' International College: Brother Juan Elias Medina

In Mt. Angel: Brothers Mark Silva, Raymond Bueno, Leonel Varela, Jason Parrott, Charles Nawodylo, Richard Castillo, and Marinello Saguin.

In San Jose: Brother Peter Vecellio, Postulants Brett Sharp and Charles Delacey.

In Uganda: Father Godfrey Chandya-Lega, Brothers Emmanuel Mayinja, Augustine Sunday, Andrew Bimpebwa, and postulant Patrick-Paul Kidega.

Special Indulgences for the Year for Priests

For our inspiration in this issue of our "OCDS Provincial Newsletter," we reprint the text announcing the gift of special indulgences that Pope Benedict and the Apostolic Penitentiary have granted during this Year for Priests:

For all the Faithful

The Plenary Indulgence is granted to the faithful who are truly repentant who, in church or in chapel, devoutly attend the divine Sacrifice of the Mass and offer prayers to Jesus Christ the Eternal High Priest, for the priests of the Church, and any other good work which they have done on that day, so that he may sanctify them and form them in accordance with His Heart, as long as they have made expiation for their sins through sacramental confession and prayed in accordance with the Supreme Pontiff's intentions: on the days in which the Year for Priests begins and ends, on the day of the 150th anniversary of the pious passing of St. John Mary Vianney [August 4], on the first Thursday of the month or on any day established by the local Ordinaries for the benefit of the faithful.

The Plenary Indulgence will likewise be granted to the elderly, the sick and all those who for any legitimate reason are confined to their homes who, with a mind detached from any sin and with the intention of fulfilling as soon as possible the three usual conditions, at home or wherever their impediment detains them, provided that on the above-mentioned days they recite prayers for the sanctification of priests and confidently offer the illnesses and hardships of their lives to God through Mary Queen of Apostles.

Lastly, the Partial Indulgence is granted to all the faithful every time they devoutly recite five Our Fathers, Hail Marys, and Glorias, or another expressly approved prayer, in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, to obtain that priests be preserved in purity and holiness of life.

"I came to Carmel to save souls, and especially to pray for priests."
- St. Thérèse, Story of a Soul -
